Win a Cool Travel Backpack from British Brand CabinZero

📅 Apr 10, 2015 👤 Kat Goh 📄 * travel, featured 🗨️ 0

Love travelling? Chances are you want to travel light and fuss-free if you can help it.

It all started in 1993 when British Neil Varden took three trips to India after graduating from university. During his trips, Neil realised he needed a travel bag that's light-weight yet durable enough to stand the rigours of travel.

That was why he created CabinZero years later, out of a need to travel light without the hassle of checking in his bag. So why the name? CabinZero simply means 'Cabin Sized = Zero Hassles'.

The CabinZero 'Classic' ultra-light cabin and travel bag features a large 44-litre capacity, side compression straps, top and side handles, a front zipped pocket with inside zipped and mesh pockets. Measuring 55 x 40 x 20 cm, it serves as a carry-on bag designed to give you maximum luggage space while remaining within the luggage allowances of budget airlines such as Ryanair and AirAsia. What's more, it weighs only 760 grams.

Additional standard features include:

Built in Global Luggage Tracker, powered by Okoban

Lockable Zippers on main compartment (lock not included)

10 years warranty

Thick padded shoulder straps

Fully Lined; waterproof

The CabinZero Classic and Vintage collections are available at Winter Times outlets at Vivo City and Tampines
