

MUNITIO PRO 40

Looking for a set of headphones that don't make you look like a jobless teenager? You might want to check out the Munitio Pro 40 headphones. This sleek headphone is made from aircraft-grade aluminum, so you know durability is not a problem. Its drivers are also coated with titanium, making it versatile enough to give audiophiles or professionals the sound that they're looking for.

CANON DP-V3010

See all your beautiful pictures and videos on the only display that's worthy of them – the 30-inch Canon DP-V3010. Sure it's made for professional use, but don't let that little detail stop you from getting this high-res DCI 4K (4096 x 2160) resolution display. Its RGB LED backlight system and IPS LCD panel also ensures that all the colors captured in your photos are also the same ones showed on screen.

NIKON D5300

With Wi-Fi capabilities built-in, the Nikon D5300 wants you to know that there's now no reason why you'd want to post grainy, underexposed, low-resolution photos from your smartphone. Instead, it wants you to post images produced by its 24.2MP (Expeed 4) sensor and huge selection of Nikkor lenses. You can even take pictures from creative angles with its vari-angle, 3.2-inch display without straining any part of your body.

VEHO 360 M5

The compact Veho 360 M5 Bluetooth speakers with its black aluminum finish looks good enough to be on your desktop, while its powerful stereo speakers provide sound that's better than some desktop speakers. You can also remove it from the dock and it's ready to play your music, or receive calls wherever you go. A large internal battery provides 8 hours of wireless playtime, or 10 hours if you're playing tunes via micro-SD slot.