

»» Batty Graphics

Graphics card enthusiasts who are fans of the caped crusader can rejoice, for Zotac has just unleashed the limited edition Zotac GeForce GTX 285 Batman Edition. Limited to only 900 units worldwide, the card comes with unique Batman artwork and a coupon to redeem a full copy of the latest Batman game – Batman: Arkham Asylum. The only downer: the card comes with stock NVIDIA clock speeds.

<http://www.zotac.com>

NAS for your Home

NAS specialists Thecus have a new offering in the N2200. Capable of taking up to two 3.5-inch SATA drives, the N2200 promises to be easy to setup and use. What's more, apart from basic NAS functionalities, the N2200 can also work as an iTunes server, while consoles such as the Sony PlayStation 3 and other DLNA certified digital media players can automatically stream content instantly from the N2200.

<http://www.thecus.com>

»» The Eye sees Everything

The Veho Muvi micro DV camcorder is one of the smallest in the world, yet it can still record in 2MP at up to 25-30fps. Measuring a mere 55mm at its longest, we can think of many fun uses for this tiny camcorder. One can attach it to your handlebar while cycling, or your helmet whilst rock climbing, or even use it as a surveillance tool. The only limit is your creativity.

<http://www.veho-uk.com>

