

Put your best skin to the fore
Veho VCC-A011-SKN Pebble Smartskin

It's wonderful to tote your iPad around all day long, making birds angry and playing with blades infinitely, the only problem is battery life. Yep, just like the iPhone it tends to run out of juice in the thick of things. The Veho Pebble Smartskin (no it isn't an automatic banana slicer) is three things in one: a neoprene protective sleeve, a soft-grip protective skin and a 6000mAh battery which, Veho claims, more than doubles your iPad life and adding (500 standby hours = 50 hours audio playback = 7 hours video playback).

State of the Union
Unity Remote

Disturbing the isle of tranquility that is Being A Couch Potato is the horrible effort required to change volume, put down a remote and, God forbid, pick up a new remote for a new device. Now here's a device that lets you combine all those features into one...and still play Angry Birds. How cool is that? You can even gesture at the TV angrily to switch channels or volume. Ah the bliss of lazing out. Until the disc needs changing that is.

BONNE SAINT VALENTIN

That's "Happy Valentine's Day" in French, the language of love. We do however, think that there are other ways of expressing amour than learning a new language, twenty in fact.
